Certificate of practical semester

Business Law LL.B.

The following applies to students who are verifiably enrolled at our university in the above-mentioned degree program (current certificate of enrollment attached):

In accordance with Mainz University of Applied Sciences examination regulations §3 section 1, the standard period of study of seven semesters includes a 16-week period which must be used to complete a practical semester abroad or a one-semester study abroad in connection with a 16-week internship in Germany (practical module) in accordance with §20, sections 1, 4 of the General Examination Regulations.

The following points must be taken into consideration:

- The obligatory practical module may be divided into several internships.
- The practical work is to have a direct correlation with the degree program.
- The length of the individual internships can be determined individually by the student in consultation with the internship provider. No internship may be shorter than the minimum length of four weeks.
- The bachelor's examination is not passed until the practical module prescribed by the examination regulations has been completed in full.

This certificate was issued by computer and is valid without a signature. Any additions and changes require express confirmation by the Academic Advisory Services Department.
