MANAGEMENT M.Sc.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Do you already have your first degree in business (administration) and you are looking to expand your qualifications in a master's program? Then you've come to the right place. The broad-based training provided by our master's degree program strengthens your development potential in the company, focusing on solution-oriented thinking and action. By choosing a specialization in the third semester, you will be able to position yourself clearly. You will also work independently on a specific business problem in your chosen specialization (Controlling & Finance, Marketing Management, Human Resource Management) as part of a company project. The company project and the international field trip to another cultural and economic area provide interaction between theory and practice.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

The four-semester program has a modular structure. Each module takes one semester. The required courses are offered each semester and conclude with a comprehensive examination. In addition to the classic forms of classes like lectures, seminars, and individual exercises, we work with case studies, group discussions, project work, work in small groups, management simulations, business plan simulations, and role play.

PROSPECTS

The program concludes with the conferral of the academic degree Master of Science (M.Sc.) and prepares you to take on challenging professional and managerial tasks. It is an accredited and international degree that qualifies you to pursue a doctorate.
